Do you teach U.S. history or U.S. government to middle or high school students?

Do you use our website (history.house.gov) for educational purposes?

Are you looking for some new resources to teach congressional history?

THEN WE WANT YOUR FEEDBACK!

The Office of the Historian is updating the education section of its website to make resources more accessible to teachers. We are looking for volunteers to participate.

To participate, please email history@mail.house.gov.

ALSO FIND US ON

youtube.com/ushousehistory
@USHouseHistory

Speaker of the House John McCormack of Massachusetts examines new technology for the House in 1969.

Image courtesy of the U.S. House of Representatives Photography Office